

~ Prof. Dr. H. Nejat Seyhun ~

1

ACADEMICIAN

• H. Nejat Seyhun is Professor of Finance and Jerome B. and Eilene M. York Professor of Business Administration at the University of Michigan, Ross School of Business. His is also currently the director of the Financial Engineering program at the University of Michigan, College of Engineering. He holds a Ph.D. in finance (1984) and a master's degree in applied economics (1981) from University of Rochester, Rochester NY; and a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering (1976) from Northwestern University, Evanston, IL. Professor Seyhun has taught in day-time MBA, evening MBA, global MBA, executive MBA, weekend MBA and Ph.D. programs, as well as executive education seminars at the University of Michigan since 1983.

2

AUTHOR

• Professor Seyhun's current teaching interests are in the area of derivatives and risk management, commercial and investment banking, real estate, corporate finance, and financial trading. He has published a book about the investment implications of insider trading, entitled "Investment Intelligence from Insider Trading" (MIT Press, 1998, 2000). His current research projects include managerial influence on their compensation, relation between investment banks and venture capitalists around initial public offerings, conflicts of interest in securities firms, pricing of index options and stock price momentum, and intra-day stock price reaction to insider trading. Professor Seyhun's research on backdating of executive options has been influential in exposing one of the biggest corporate scandals in 2006. His academic articles have been published in various pioneer journals.

3

CONSULTANT

• Professor Seyhun's research has been quoted frequently in the financial press including the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, Washington Post, Newsweek, Business Week, Bloomberg Business News, and Los Angeles Times. Professor Seyhun has also worked as a consulting expert in options backdating cases, testifying expert in securities matters, as well as consultant to the U.S. Justice Department in insider trading cases.